2024-25 URC Sticking Priority List Available

Wondering what varieties are the most sensitive to shipping?

These are the crops that should be removed from the box and stuck first. Here from Selecta One is a URC Priority Sticking List for 2024-2025 that growers can download (as a pdf) as a reliable reference guide.

In addition to this grower-friendly list, other important resource info can be found from our friends at Ball FloraPlant with a guide to How to Grow a Better Liner (download as a pdf). You'll find explanations on why certain crops suffer from transportation stress more than others. And you'll know that getting those crops stuck FIRST helps them thrive.

The file shows which crops we suggest to stick first because of sensitivity due to shipping. These should have priority over other crops when a customer receives their boxes of different genus on the same delivery day.
