

IN THE NEWS: Dianthus Explained (GrowerTalks, November 2022)

The Dianthus class has evolved into one of the most versatile plants in horticulture.

We're sure you've noticed: Selecta One North America has increased its focus on Dianthus and Potted Carnations. New innovations are expanding the categories for this class, and helping build demand in the marketplace.

If you haven't checked out our NEW Dianthus webpage, head there now to see the latest resources and selection tools.

It's a great time to seek Dianthus education in its many forms. For instance, in this month's GrowerTalks magazine, our very own Gary Vollmer contributes his thoughts about this rising class in the feature article "Dianthus Explained, Part 1".

In the article, Gary shares details about the common Dianthus types you'll encounter in greenhouse production.
